

The Southeast Florida Unitarian Universalist Cluster,
The Fort Lauderdale Unitarian Universalist Church and the River of Grass Unitarian Universalist Congregation present a workshop on

Healing and Re-energizing the Soul-Wearied Social and Environmental Activist

Saturday, May 20, 2006 from 1:30 - 4:30 p.m.

Fort Lauderdale Unitarian Universalist Church

3970 NW 21 Avenue, Oakland Park, FL 33309 954.484.6734 www.uucfl.org

Exit I-95 at Oakland Park Blvd, exit #31, go west about 1/2 mile.

North on NW 21 Ave. about 2/3 of a mile. The church is just past a small bridge and a traffic light.

This free workshop is offered for activists and others who are feeling despair or suffering disappointment, disillusionment and fatigue from their work on behalf of justice. Through this workshop people will have the opportunity to experience healing as well as feel re-energized. Its goal is to bring hope back to the activist's work -- hope for the future well-being of earth and all its life forms. This workshop is better than anything the doctor could have ordered to heal the soul weary activist! It is based on the work of Joanna Macy, the world renowned Buddhist and activist. Workshop leader is the Rev. Jacqueline Ziegler, interim minister for The River of Grass Unitarian Universalist Congregation.

This workshop is FREE.

Preregistration is necessary. Please call the River of Grass office at 954.474.2007 to register. Leave your name, phone and email address.

The deadline for registration is May 18.

Please tell any activists you know that they are invited to this workshop.
